ECONOMIC COMMISSION FOR AFRICA

Regional Expert Consultation on the Role of Rural Co-operatives in the Productive Sectors in Africa

Addis Ababa, 7 - 11 October, 1985

AIDE MEMOIRE

1. Sponsorship

The Regional Expert Consultation on the Role of Rural Co-operatives in the Productive Sector in Africa is sponsored by the United Nations Economic Commission for Africa (ECA), in collaboration with FAO, ILO, UNIDO and ICA.

2. Venue and date

The Expert Consultation will take place in Africa, Hall, ECA, Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, from Monday 7 to Friday 11 October 1985.

3. Background of the consultation

Africa has considerable growth potential. Given equitable access to resources, appropriate priorities of their inter- and intra-sectoral allocations, and the democratic process of decision-making at all levels, as elaborated, besides others, in the ECA's Perspective Study[1/] (1983-2000) Africa can attain its "willed future", which the leaders had in mind when they adopted the Monrovia Strategy, the Lagos Plan of Action and the Final Act of Lagos.

Africa is predominently rural and may remain so at the year 2000 and possibly beyond. Hence, the rural development of the member States of the region is synonymous with their national development. The development of rural life, institutions and economy is the bootstrap by which Africa can hope to pull itself out of "The Paralysis of Multiple Debilitating Crises"[2/]. In this effort, the co-operative movement can play a vital role.

There are various aspects of the co-operative movement. The objective of this Consultation is to discuss its role in the rural productive sectors. Higher productivity and increased production, with equity and people's participation, is essential for a better quality of rural life. Moreover, a sustained economic development is a necessary condition for other aspects of the co-operatives, such as credit, marketing and service, to be viable. Africa has by now adequate experience of the efficacy of the production co-operatives under different ideological predilections. Given her current socio-economic crisis and the need for pragmatic organization structure and management to resolve the crisis, it is necessary to make an objective assessment of the rural production co-operatives and consider the policy measures to make them more efficient form of organization, with genuine grassroot involvement.

4. Purpose of the Consultation

The purpose of the Consultation is to:

i) review genesis, structure, declared objectives of the national production co-operatives and their size and share within the co-operative sector and the overall economy;

ii) consider the policies - past and present - of the Governments towards production co-operatives;

iii) evaluate the impact of production co-operatives in rural areas on extension services, expansion of technology, the integrated co-operative system, productivity, income and food security through increased food production and its equitable distribution; and

iv) propose measures to promote production co-operatives in rural areas, and policies and promotional institutions needed for the creation of a more conducive climate for the growth and success of production co-operatives.
